Do you know where your doctors are?

What if you had physician intelligence on every doctor in your service area available on your portable electronic device?

What if you could create action plans and schedule deliverables with alerts?

What if you could view referral patterns at a glance?

What if you could monitor feedback and be proactive in rewarding and recognizing or offering solutions?

What if you could track physician productivity metrics and receive alerts—whether up or down?

What if you could become a provider's trusted advisor by identifying and suggesting business opportunities?

What if you could access physician intelligence from anywhere 24/7 with no software to load?

What if you could help eliminate silos, contribute to listening and learning, and improve physician satisfaction ?

What if you could turn doc data into dollars? Want to hear more about Ki?
