Access the Vault.

KontaktIntelligence, the leader in physician recruiting and retention software is launching a web-based application unlike anything in the industry today. The all new MedCV will allow physicians to safely store and track their career and credentialing records electronically in their medical credentials vault. The free application will offer resources to docs to help them manage and optimize their careers, from industry articles to sample employment contracts and tips on negotiations.

Designed by recruiters, healthcare systems will have access to a huge national database to promote their openings.
